Dear USC Alumni and Friends:

We invite you to witness one of the greatest feats of the modern age — the Panama Canal, a stunning example of engineering prowess. During a specially arranged and narrated daylight transit, experience the mighty locks that raise and lower ocean-going vessels 85 feet, employing the force of gravity to achieve in mere hours what once involved a three-week circumnavigation of South America.

This 9-day, 8-night itinerary also showcases Earth's most pristine ecosystems in the rainforests and islands of Costa Rica and Panama at the best time of year. Cruise aboard the exclusively chartered, deluxe Wind Star, a sleek, four-masted sailing yacht accommodating only 148 guests. Dock in small ports of call inaccessible to larger vessels and enjoy a variety of included excursions led by experienced onboard naturalists.

Tour the stunning and biodiverse Manuel Antonio National Park, where guides will lead a trail walk through an ecosystem of rare species. Snorkel or hike the spectacular Isla Coiba with its astounding range of wildlife.

Enhance your journey with the San José Pre-Extension or the Panama City Post-Extension options. This amazing program will fill up fast. Reserve now while space and early booking savings are available.

We anticipate much excitement and demand for this very special cruise. More details about this voyage and our other programs can be found at TrojanTravel.usc.edu

Global Conservation

Famed for its easily accessed park system, Costa Rica represents one of the world's greatest ecotourism destinations. The country's national motto, "¡Pura Vida!" or "pure life," is reflected in its unwavering commitment to environmental preservation.

One of the most biodiverse locations on Earth, Costa Rica's varied habitats and ecosystems preserve a spectacular array of wildlife and unspoiled beauty. More than 25 percent of this captivating country has been designated a national park, wildlife refuge or protected rainforest.

A nationwide mission to achieve zero net carbon emissions by 2050 has reinforced the connection between Costa Rica's proud residents and this primal landscape that flourishes with rare and endemic species — proving to the world that it's possible to thrive without damaging the planet we all share.

Marvel of Human Engineering

Completed in 1914, the Panama Canal is considered one of the Seven Wonders of the Modern World by the American Society of Civil Engineers. France's failed attempt to build a canal in the 19th century and U.S. backing of Panama's independence in 1903 created diplomatic conditions favorable to the U.S.-led effort. In 1904, the Hay-Bunau Varilla Treaty granted exclusive canal rights to the U.S. in exchange for $10 million and an annuity of $250,000. Under the watchful eye of U.S. President Theodore Roosevelt, the canal's realization hinged on the successful conversion of the original French sea-level plan to a lock-controlled canal system, plus crucial health care advances to prevent malaria and yellow fever outbreaks.

This historic engineering feat opened new channels of international trade and allowed ships to travel between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans in a fraction of the time required to circumnavigate South America. Following a $5.25 billion expansion in 2016, the canal now accommodates more than twice the cargo. It's seen more than 900,000 vessels (and counting) pass through its locks, experiencing an engineering miracle that was once thought impossible.
